COLLECT

O God,

you give light to the blind and comfort to the sorrowing,

and in your Son you have given us

a High Priest who has offered the true sacrifice for us

and yet can sympathise with us in our weakness:

hear the cry of your people

and lead us home to our true country,

where with your Son and the Holy Spirit

you live and reign, one God, in glory everlasting.

Amen

Psalm 126

- 1 When the Lord turned again the fortunes of Zion:
then were we like those restored to life.
- 2 Then was our mouth filled with laughter:
and our tongue with singing.
- 3 Then said they among the heathen:
'The Lord has done great things for them.'
- 4 Truly the Lord has done great things for us:
and therefore we rejoiced.
- 5 Turn again our fortunes, O Lord:
as the streams return to the dry south.
- 6 Those who sow in tears:
shall reap with songs of joy.
- 7 They that go out weeping, bearing the seed:
shall come again in gladness, bringing their sheaves with them.

Our grateful thanks to the Rev'd Dr Scott Cowdell for his ministry to us during the rector's leave. It has been a pleasure to have him with us. Next week Jeannette will be helping us celebrate All Saint's Day with the help of Andrea and the children. Then Rebecca returns! (Tuesday 6th November)

From our visiting priest

It has been a pleasure and privilege to spend three weeks with you and I thank you for a friendly welcome. For now, a few thoughts from today's sermon...

Our Gospel is the well-loved story of blind Bartimaeus accosting Jesus in supreme confidence that his life can be changed. Something to notice about this wonderful little story is its strategic location in Mark's Gospel. It comes at the end of a long section that begins in Chapter 9 with the story of Jesus' Transfiguration. The disciples don't understand the vision they've seen on the mountaintop, and who Jesus is, and how Jesus has now become the focus of faith in God, attended by Moses and Elijah as witnesses from the Old Testament. But at the end of that long section it's blind Bartimaeus who sees while others remain blind. In the same way, Bartimaeus serves as the bookend to another encounter Jesus has, earlier in Chapter 10, with the man who refuses to follow him, because he won't let go of his attachment to wealth as a marker of status—the man I talked to you about two weeks back. What a contrast: the status-conscious man who clings to the security and identity his wealth provides, set against the poor blind beggar who threw security to the wind—literally, when he threw off his cloak—and clung to Jesus with passionate belief in a new future. Friends, the invitation and the challenge to you and to me could not be clearer.
