Sunday 1 November 2015 All Saints & All Souls

10am Music

Hymns: 455, 123, 371 & 569

Sentence

And a great multitude, from every nation and tribe and people and language, cried with a loud voice, saying, 'Salvation belongs to our God who is seated on the throne, and to the Lamb!'

Revelation 7.10

Prayer of the day

We praise you, heavenly Father, that you have knit together your chosen ones in one communion and fellowship in the body of your Son, Jesus Christ our Lord: give us grace so to follow your blessed saints in all virtuous and godly living that we may come to those in expressible joys you have prepared for those who truly love you; through Jesus Christ our Saviour, who with you and the Holy Spirit lives and reigns, one God, in glory everlasting. Amen.

Psalm 24

- 1 The earth is the Lord's and all that is in it:
the compass of the world and those who dwell therein.
- 2 For he has founded it upon the seas:
and established it upon the waters.
- 3 Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord:
or who shall stand in his holy place?
- 4 Those who have clean hands and a pure heart:
who have not set their soul upon idols, nor sworn their oath to a lie.
- 5 They shall receive blessing from the Lord:
and recompense from the God of their salvation.
- 6 Of such a kind as this are those who seek him:
those who seek your face, O God of Jacob.
- 7 Lift up your heads, O you gates, and be lifted up, you everlasting
doors:
and the King of glory shall come in.
- 8 Who is the King of glory?:
the Lord, strong and mighty, the Lord mighty in battle.
- 9 Lift up your heads, O you gates, and be lifted up, you everlasting
doors:
and the King of glory shall come in.
- 10 Who is the King of glory?:
the Lord of hosts, he is the King of glory.

From the Locum Tenens Rector

Psalm 24 This is a beautiful psalm of entry to worship. It may have been sung in a procession of worshippers entering into the Temple. It explores the mutual entrance of humans and God into each other's' spheres. What might it be like when the two meet? How can we know that the two can co-exist in the same space?

The poet begins with the affirmation of God's ownership of the world, founded in the fact that God is its creator. The psalmist includes all created things (all that is in it) and human social and cultural life (those who live in it). There may be much that is chaotic, inhospitable and hostile to life but God's power secures it for life.

Then comes the perennial question, "Who shall ascend the hill of the Lord? And who shall stand in his holy place?" The question never leaves the human heart and we forever make up our own answers to it. The psalmist has his answer (4-6).

Encounter with God is personal and ethical, not ritualistic and remote. The worshipper needs to look to the character of God to know what they must be like. The requirements are not rules but character and action like God. The psalmist uses relational terms. Do we live with our neighbor in purity and cleanness, and not in falsity and deceit? That is how God works. There lies blessing, salvation and vindication.

But what happens when God enters our space? After all, the God who enters human space is the king of glory (7-10). This One does not stand outside human space but comes into it. And this King of Glory in this human space is the divine warrior king who does not come to destroy but can and will deliver the creation from its cruel bondage, and bless the world with salvation.

On All Saints Day we link this Psalm with the other readings and know the power of life in the crucified warrior-king, Jesus, to raise from the dead. And John vividly portrays the power of God to renew heaven and earth.

St Philip's 2015 Local Mission Project

Common Ground Canberra: Common Ground Canberra is the national capital's first low-cost supportive housing initiative focused on providing quality tenant outcomes for people who have experienced chronic homelessness.

Common Ground Canberra targets the most vulnerable chronically homeless people in the community. These are people who have been homeless continuously for six months or more, or who have experience multiple episodes of primary homelessness over a 12 month period. They often have substantial barriers to housing stability such as a disability, mental illness or substance misuse disorder. Common Ground Canberra also targets low-income earners who are unable to access other affordable housing options.

Envelopes available today, if you would like to make a contribution towards St Philip's donation to this project.
